In the submission, state specifically the grounds under which the claimant has the standing and the right to assert this claim. For the purposes of the Independent Review Process (IRP), demonstration of standing requires the claimant to, in specific and particular details, identify how it has been directly impacted and materially harmed by an ICANN Board decision, and not by the actions of third parties. Material harm requires that there must be a loss or injury suffered (financial or non-financial) that is a directly and causally connected to the Board violation of the Bylaws or Articles of Incorporation on which the complaint is based. The decision of the IRP Panel (as reviewed and acted upon by the Board) must be able to stop the harm. Injury or harm caused by third parties as a result of acting in line with the Board's decision is not a sufficient ground for Independent Review. Similarly, injury or harm that is only of a sufficient magnitude because it was exacerbated by the actions of a third party is also not a sufficient ground for an Independent Review.

By submitting this Notice, Claimant acknowledges the following:

Written submissions of argument to the IRP Panel are limited to 25 pages, double-spaced and in 12-point font.

The Chair of the standing panel for the IRP retains the ability to decide on what the appropriate size of the panel will be, based upon issues such as the complexity of the matter alleged. The Chair may also make recommendations of whether any particular expertise is desired on the Panel. In the event the standing panel is not yet comprised, the ICDR will assist in determining the appropriate size of the panel and the particular expertise that is recommended for the panel.

The IRP Panel shall have the power to dismiss the request summarily in the event the claimant cannot demonstrate standing to initiate the proceeding. The IRP Panel shall also have the power to dismiss frivolous or vexatious requests.

If the claimant has not availed itself, in good faith, of the cooperative engagement or conciliation process and ICANN is the prevailing party in the IRP, the IRP Panel must award ICANN all reasonable fees and costs incurred by ICANN in the IRP, including legal fees.

The ICANN Board's decision following on from the Declaration of the IRP Panel is final and creates precedent for future IRP proceedings. If the subject matter of the request is on the same issue as a prior IRP Proceeding, the ICANN Board's decision on the prior IRP Panel is binding and serves as grounds for summary dismissal of the request for Independent Review.
