

RENEW YOUR DOMAIN NAME BEFORE IT EXPIRES!

GREAT NEWS.

You hold a unique address on the Internet to promote your organization or yourself.

What do you need to do to keep it?

Renew BEFORE it expires!

DOMAIN NAME MAINTENANCE

If you haven't renewed your domain name and it is about to expire, now is the time to do it.

If you didn't renew your domain name and it has expired, contact your registrar immediately to find out which of the following three scenarios applies to you:

SCENARIO 1: YOU LOST THE RIGHT TO YOUR DOMAIN NAME

There is no available option to renew or restore your domain name.

About Lost Domain Names: go.icann.org/lostdomain

SCENARIO 2: YOU MAY HAVE THE OPTION TO RENEW

Depending on the terms of your contract with your registrar, you may have the option to renew the expired domain name for up to 45 days after expiration.

SCENARIO 3: YOU MAY HAVE THE OPTION TO RESTORE

If your expired domain name is deleted by your registrar, then you have the option to restore it within 30 days of deletion.

Registrar: A registrar is an organization that registers domain names.

QUICK TIPS

- Make sure you check in with your registrar to stay up-to-date with registration and expiration deadlines.
- Don't forget to read the Terms of Service of the registrar or reseller you are registering your domain name with to ensure you understand the fees, rules, and conditions.
- Your registrar must send you two renewal reminders – approximately one month and one week before the domain name's expiration date.
- Your domain name will not function during the 30-day Redemption Grace Period after its deleted.

